

Taft Holds Whip Hand Over Coming Republican Convention

WASHINGTON, June 11.—Sen. Robert Taft now holds the controls, throttle and brakes of the Republican convention machinery—an omen of a possibility of a later-end fight over disputed delegations.

Here was the lineup, adopted by the convention arrangements committee at its final meeting in Chicago Tuesday:

Keynote speaker—Gen. Douglas MacArthur, a supporter of Taft and a critic of Taft's chief rival for the GOP presidential nomination, Gen. Dwight Eisenhower.

Temporary chairman—Walter S. Hallahan of West Virginia, another Taft booster.

Platform committee chairman—Sen. Eugene Millikin of Colorado, for Taft also.

The fourth key post, permanent chairman, went to Rep. Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts, who has not taken sides in the Taft-Eisenhower rivalry but has spoken well of MacArthur.

The Taft camp called the signals when the arrangements committee put together the men and the jobs for the July 7 convention in Chicago. It was noticed that the O'Brien, whose offer to compromise on contested delegations in the South was rejected by Eisenhower campaign, now is ready for a no-quarter battle.

Of the 1,193 convention delegates—out of a total 1,296—already chosen, the Associated Press tabulation now gives Taft 464, Eisenhower 410 and uncommitted or disputed 209. Nomination requires 604 and in a squeeze the contested delegations—such as those from Texas, Louisiana, Georgia and Mississippi—could put a man across.

The keynoter's rallying speech can do much to set the tone. The platform committee will put into words what the party stands for. And the chairmen, first the temporary and then the permanent, will have plenty of power when disputes hit the floor—disputes such as whether to seat pro-Taft or pro-Eisenhower delegations.

The arrangements committee's action drew mixed reaction from Eisenhower rooters. Some said they were disappointed but expect fair play. Others complained. Eisenhower himself declined to comment.

The Army said it would take no action on the question of whether MacArthur would violate regulations by appearing on the political convention program. Friends said he would wear civilian clothes.

Eisenhower, meanwhile, was continuing his sessions in New York with delegates and others he hopes to win over to his side. On his conference program Wednesday were John Foster Dulles, an influential Republican as yet uncommitted, and delegates from New Jersey, New York and Maryland. A Taft spokesman said the senator also is conferring with delegates.

Clark Tells Reds He OKs Allied Walkout

Communists Renew Criticism Against Koje 'Massacres'

UNSAN, June 11.—The Korean armistice talks resumed Wednesday with the Communists protesting new bloodshed on Koje Island and repeating old accusations that brought about a three-day walkout by the United Nations delegation.

Gen. Mark Clark, UN Far East commander, told the top Red commanders he fully approved the walkout which obviously caught the Reds off balance and brought a stream of protests from them.

In a letter delivered to North Korean Gen. Kim Il Sung and Chinese Gen. Peng Teh-huai, Clark wrote:

"Delegates of the United Nations Command have endured for many days your maliciously false charges based on distortions and half-truths presented in plenary sessions only for propaganda purposes. Their patience at all times has been commendable. The manner in which they have conducted negotiations meets with my full approval."

A STAFF officer handed the letter to the Reds at Panmunjom shortly before the armistice talks resumed. It replied to a written protest from the Red generals two days earlier.

Maj. Gen. William K. Harrison, senior UN truce delegate, said there was no progress Wednesday on the truce blocking issue of exchange prisoners.

"We had hoped that they would use the three-day recess to make up their minds to accept our proposal but the session today was just as though we hadn't been away," he added.

At Communist insistence, negotiators will meet again at 11 a. m. Thursday (9 p. m. Wednesday, EST).

North Korean Gen. Nam Il, top Red negotiator, opened the 37-minute meeting by protesting Allied action in moving rebellious prisoners of war on Koje Island yesterday. He said:

"According to information already made public, your side slaughtered 31 and wounded 139 of our captured personnel. I am authorized to lodge with your side a serious protest."

"YOUR SLAUGHTER of our captured personnel is absolutely not to be tolerated. Your side will be held fully responsible for the serious consequences of the massacre."

Allied authorities said at least 50 of the Reds on Koje were slain by other Reds.

Harrison repeated the UN position that no prisoner of war will be forced to return to Red rule. The Reds demand all their captured soldiers back regardless. Only 70,000 of 169,000 captured Reds have indicated a willingness to return. The Reds again turned down repeated Allied offers for joint rescuing of all prisoners.

GOP Means 'Grim Old Pessimists'?

PHOENIX, Ariz., June 11.—W. Averell Harriman, a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, voiced an opinion about the Republican Party here Tuesday.

He said GOP now stands for "Grim Old Pessimists." He said the Republican Party has been captured by "the weepers and the wailers," whereas the Democrats have a positive program.

Moscow Decries Koje Incidents

MOSCOW, June 11.—The Soviet press Wednesday headlined the latest incident on the Korean Island of Koje as a "new monstrous crime of American interventionists."

"Bloody, evil doing," said one account.

Brig. Gen. Haydon L. Boatner, the UN commander on the island, was called a "hangman."

FIVE MINUTES after a New York heat record of 85 degrees was set, a rainstorm accompanied by 68-mile-an-hour wind drove the temperature down 15 degrees. Struck by lightning, this tree crashed atop a parked auto. No one was injured.

Premiums, Speed Program Pared For 1952 Pickaway County Fair

Pickaway County's 1952 Fair, scheduled to begin July 29 and continue through Aug. 1, has been overhauled in an economy measure.

Henry Reid, manager for this year's agricultural exposition, said all premiums except 4-H Club awards are to be pared by 25 percent.

In addition, where the fair board formerly has sponsored three days of harness racing in the past it will sponsor only two days of racing this year.

The move was made when a budget was set up—the first budget ever believed to be set up by the board—for this year's fair.

Reid said the budget indicated the 1952 fair, if attended by the same number of persons as last year's fair, would mean a deficit of $6,000.

ARMED WITH those figures, the fair board met with Pickaway County commissioners, asking them if they would be able to absorb the deficit.

Commissioners said no, they wouldn't. They suggested an effort be made to place the fair on an even keel.

In accordance, the fair board agreed to cut premiums in all departments except 4-H Clubs; cut free acts in half; lessen tent rental; and eliminate one day of racing.

The harness club, however, objected strongly, since it earlier had advertised the local speed program as a three-day event and faced the prospect of losing membership in the United States Trotting Association if only two days were run.

The harness club and the fair board has entered an agreement.

Chicago Chemical Dump Hit By Fire

CHICAGO, June 11.—A spectacular extra-alarm fire roared through a chemical warehouse on Chicago's southwest side Tuesday night causing an estimated $500,000 damage.

The one-story building, owned by the Witco Chemical Co., covers one half city block. Company officials said it was used to store carbon blacks, asphalt and naphtha.

15 Commie POWs Murdered By Fellow Reds In Prison

KOJE ISLAND, June 11.—Communist prisoners of war in Compound 77 murdered 15 fellow POWs in a night of terror, then meekly surrendered to United Nations troops Wednesday for dispersal to smaller stockades.

American guards seized seven of the compound's leaders after the group had been shifted.

A leader of tough prison Pen 66—holding 2,700 North Korean officers and 650 enlisted men—was shown the shambles of Compound 76 where the Reds resisted dispersal. But American guards said throughout the day they heard considerable hammering in 66, an indication the POWs were shaping weapons.

American paratroopers found eight POW bodies still oozing blood in a well in Compound 77. Later a ninth body doubled up in an oil drum was discovered in the same well. Five bodies were found in trenches and another in an abandoned well.

ONE VICTIM'S hands were tied behind his back. Others had been beaten and ropes were taut around the necks.

Twenty anti-Red prisoners scaled barbed wire fences during the night. They said Red leaders had planned to kill them.

The 6,288 North Koreans in the compound were the third such group to be dispersed to 500-man compounds in Brig. Gen. Haydon L. Boatner's campaign for uncontrolled control over the POWs.

The 6,400 Reds in Compound 76—first to be dispersed—fought savagely for 2½ hours Tuesday before being subdued by 750 tough paratroopers from the 187th Airborne Combat Team.

Thirty-one Reds were killed in the fight. The Army said seven wounded POWs had died since, boosting the death toll to 38. A new survey showed about 150 prisoners were wounded.

One American bled to death after being stabbed by a crude prison spear. Fourteen other Americans were injured slightly.

The bloody fight had its effect on POWs in other compounds. Those in adjoining 78 were moved to new, smaller pens without resistance. A few hours later Pen 77 sent word to Boatner it would obey moving orders.

The cleaning out of the enclosure yielded about 65 anti-Communist prisoners who said the evacuation had saved their lives.

Thirty anti-Reds fell out of line when groups of Communists were marched out.

Thirty-five others assembled in the rear of the compound and waited until all other POWs had been cleared out. Then they marched out.

Maj. David Korn of Richmond, Va., an officer of the 187th, said it was apparent many more prisoners wanted to be separated but were held in the marching columns by die-hard Reds.

Two POWs who escaped from Compound 77 told stories of murders during the night.

American guards outside the compound said they had heard screams inside.

The two prisoners led officers to tents where they said five men disappeared and to a burning rubbish heap where they said two bodies were buried in oil drums 10 to 12 feet underground.

North Korean Col. Lee Hak Koo, a Compound 76 leader now in solitary confinement, told an interrogator he thought Boatner was bluffing when he said he would move the prisoners by force if necessary.

House Panel Votes Extension Of Wage And Price Controls

WASHINGTON, June 11.—The House Banking Committee voted Wednesday for a full year's extension of wage, price and rent controls, and for dropping all controls over real estate and consumer credit.

The committee is working on a measure to replace the present defense production act—the basic controls law—which expires June 30.

Knocking out real estate controls would mean the end of the government's present Regulation which sets the required down payment for purchase of new homes. The government eased Regulation X terms earlier this week.

Consumer credit controls, which regulated down payments on automobiles, radios and many other items, were suspended recently. The House committee's decision, if fully approved by Congress, would mean they could not be reimposed.

IN OTHER important actions, the committee:

1. Stipulated that the support prices for six basic agricultural commodities—corn, wheat, cotton, peanuts, tobacco and rice—shall not be less than 90 percent of parity. Present law allows them to be supported on a sliding scale varying from 75 to 90 per cent.

2. Denied the administration's request for restoration of the power to impose livestock slaughtering quotas.

Court Martial Faces GI Who Chided Clark

MONTEREY, Calif., June 11.—The Army is going to prosecute a veteran sergeant who wrote Gen. Mark Clark that his handling of a Koje war prison camp incident was "repugnant and disgraceful."

Sgt. C. Dean Chase, 24, Salt Lake City, was charged Tuesday with disrespect to a superior officer and ordered court martial. Maximum penalty if convicted is six months in prison and a bad conduct discharge.

Chase commented "I knew exactly what I was doing" but expected only a reprimand from Clark. The general instead sent Chase's letter to Sixth Army headquarters in San Francisco, for "appropriate action."

Specifically, Chase criticized Clark for repudiating promises made by Brig. Gen. (now Col.) Charles Colson, then Koje commander, to win the release of Brig. Gen. (now Col.) Francis Dodd, held hostage 78 hours by Communist prisoners of war on Koje Island, Korea. Clark, Far East commander, labeled Colson's promises "blackmail" extorted by the Reds.

Chase made his letter public. He wrote in part:

"When an officer in the military service proclaims himself god and inveighs an immoral privilege of reigning on the sworn word of someone else, the state of the union and the state of the world is indeed precarious. You must already know to what I refer: Koje!"

Body Armor Helps Protect GIs In Korea

CHICAGO, June 11.—Body armor looks good for helping American fighting men in Korea, the American Medical Association was told Wednesday by an Army doctor.

Lieut. Col. Robert Holmes said a chest-and-belly vest, made of compressed fiberglass and nylon, has been under test by the Marines and the Army as possible protection against small-arms and shell-fragment fire.

"Results of the present trials are secret, but it can be said that thus far indications are encouraging," Holmes, of the Army Medical Corps, declared.

"It appears," he added, "that body armor will provide another means of preventive medicine for the armed forces and will contribute to the total medical effort to conserve the fighting strength."

Holmes made this report while declaring that enemy losses in Korea, in killed and wounded, "have been estimated at from 10 to 40 to our one."

He said that "this wide difference has existed largely because of superior artillery fire and decisive air coverage" but he added that "such circumstances has the potential of sudden change."

He said that "progress in combat medicine and surgery" had accounted for reducing the death rate in Korea compared to World War II.

Boom In Farm Land Slowing Down, Report

WASHINGTON, June 11.—The farm land boom is slowing down, the Agriculture Department said Wednesday.

Main reason: It takes more money to buy and equip a farm than most young men and tenants can scrape together.

The average U. S. farm is worth between $17,000 and $18,000, and that doesn't include machinery, equipment and livestock, the department said. In some areas the land market has been restricted largely to the farmer who already owns a farm and equipment and to the city investor.

Land prices started advancing sharply after outbreak of the war in Korea, but the upward spiral has slowed to a snail's pace. The department said prices rose an average of two per cent during the four months ended March 1, compared to eight per cent during the corresponding period last year.

Farm land prices on March 1, compared to eight per cent during the corresponding period last year.

Farm land prices on March 1 were nine per cent higher than a year ago and 23 per cent higher than on July 1, 1950, when war in Korea erupted.

The department said other factors weakening the demand for farms include rising production costs and lower product prices.

Senate Votes 'Request' To White House

Taft Says President 'Childish' In Demand For Seizure Powers

WASHINGTON, June 11.—Top government officials believe President Truman probably will turn now to the Taft-Hartley law in an effort to get the steel mills back into production.

The Senate, unmoved by Truman's personal appeal for special seizure powers, held firmly against any alternative other than Taft-Hartley.

"The issue for peace or war hangs in the balance and steel is a vital element in the outcome," Truman told a hastily-arranged joint meeting of Senate and House Tuesday after the collapse of industry-union negotiations.

After hearing him, irate Republican and southern Democratic senators joined forces to write into the anti-inflation Defense Production Act an official "request" that Truman invoke at once the labor relations law he had just denounced as "unfair, harmful and futile."

SEN. ROBERT A. Taft of Ohio, co-author of the law, and an aspirant for the Republican presidential nomination, helped lead a succession of rebuffs to the White House on the seizure issue. At day's end Taft told a reporter:

"This was a direct answer to the President's request for Congress to act. Congress has acted."

Government officials seemed to be generally agreed that Truman's personally delivered request to Congress for a special seizure law came close to committing him to do whatever Congress asked.

These officials, who asked reporters not to quote them by name, said the tone of the President's speech suggested willingness to comply with the wishes of Congress, despite his statement that he would "by far the worse of the two approaches."

To use the Taft-Hartley Act's 80-day anti-strike injunction provisions, Truman contended, "would be to take sides with the companies and against the workers."

He hinted broadly there was no assurance the 650,000 striking steel workers would obey an injunction.

The President told the lawmakers the better way would be a plant seizure law under which the owners would "face the possibility of receiving something less than their normal profits... and the workers will face the prospect of getting

Court Martial Faces GI Who Chided Clark

MONTEREY, Calif., June 11.—(AP)—The Army is going to prosecute a veteran sergeant who wrote Gen. Mark Clark that his handling of a Koje war prison camp incident was "repugnant and disgraceful."

Sgt. C. Dean Chase, 24, Salt Lake City, was charged Tuesday with disrespect to a superior officer and ordered court martial. Maximum penalty if convicted is six months in prison and a bad conduct discharge.

Chase commented "I knew exactly what I was doing" but expected only a reprimand from Clark. The general instead sent Chase's letter to Sixth Army headquarters in San Francisco, for "appropriate action."

Specifically, Chase criticized Clark for repudiating promises made by Brig. Gen. (now Col.) Charles Colson, then Koje commander, to win the release of Brig. Gen. (now Col.) Francis Dodd, held hostage 78 hours by Communist prisoners of war on Koje Island, Korea. Clark, Far East commander, labeled Colson's promises "blackmail" extorted by the Reds.

Chase made his letter public. He wrote in part:

"When an officer in the military service proclaims himself god and inveighs an amoral privilege of renegeing on the sworn word of someone else, the state of the union and the state of the world is indeed precarious. You must already know to what I refer: Koje!"

Boon In Farm Land Slowing Down, Report

WASHINGTON, June 11.—(AP)—The farm land boom is slowing down, the Agriculture Department said Wednesday.

Main reason: It takes more money to buy and equip a farm than most young men and tenants can scrape together.

The average U. S. farm is worth between $17,000 and $18,000, and that doesn't include machinery, equipment and livestock, the department said. In some areas the land market has been restricted largely to the farmer who already owns a farm and equipment and to the city investor.

Land prices started advancing sharply after outbreak of the war in Korea, but the upward spiral has slowed to a snail's pace. The department said prices rose an average of two per cent during the four months ended March 1, compared to eight per cent during the corresponding period last year.

Farm land prices on March 1 were nine per cent higher than a year ago and 23 per cent higher than on July 1, 1950, when war in Korea erupted.

The department said other factors weakening the demand for farms include rising production costs and lower product prices.

Sabres Destroy 3 Migs Near Yalu

SEOUL, June 11.—(AP)—U. S. Sabrejet pilots reported they shot down three Russian-built Mig-15 jet fighters Wednesday near the Yalu River border between Korea and Manchuria.

The U. S. Fifth Air Force said the three were among seven that tangled with 12 Sabres of the fourth Fighter-Interceptor Wing. Eighteen other Migs were in the flight.

United Nations ground troops, using bayonets and grenades, beat back 200 Chinese Reds striking at a hill on the Korean western front.

Marine Given Flashy Reception

SEOUL, June 11.—(AP)—A Marine combat photographer, T-Sgt. Paul F. Shaner, got a flashy reception as he stepped out of a jeep at a forward Marine ground control intercepter squadron.

Invisible radar rays from air scanning equipment touched off simultaneously 40 flashbulbs he was carrying in a shoulder bag.

Chicago Chemical Dump Hit By Fire

CHICAGO, June 11.—(AP)—A spectacular extra-alarm fire roared through a chemical warehouse on Chicago's southwest side Tuesday night causing an estimated $500,000 damage.

The one-story building, owned by the Witco Chemical Co., covers one half city block. Company officials said it was used to store carbon blacks, asphalt and naphtha.

Japanese Women Given 'Holiday'

TOKYO, June 11.—(AP)—Elders of Futakawa Village on Western Honshu Island have decreed a holiday for women on the 15th of each month. Men will cook, wash and do other household chores.

There's one catch: The women are expected to use the time to "elevate their cultural standards."

Midwest Enjoys Cooler Weather

CHICAGO, June 11.—(AP)—More hot and humid weather was the outlook Wednesday for most of the southern half of the country, but some cooling was in prospect for most of the Midwest, and eastern and far western states.

Showers and thunderstorms, with strong winds from 30 to 40 miles an hour, spread from the Dakotas eastward to Minnesota and Western Wisconsin. Showers were forecast for the North Central region.

Senate Votes 'Request' To White House

less than they think they are entitled to."

AS HE OUTLINED it, however, his plan would permit the government, while operating the mills, to raise wages and change working conditions.

Within hours the Senate bowed over three plant seizure proposals, two of which had tacit White House blessing, and spiked into the controls bill the request to use the Taft-Hartley law.

In his speech to Congress Truman repeated his argument that a strike already had been averted for longer than the 80 days a Taft-Hartley law injunction would have deferred it.

He also claimed the act's provisions for fact-finding already have been met in the disputed recommendations of the Wage Stabilization Board.

"In the steel case," he said, "the union already has voluntarily postponed strike action for 99 days."

Truman said the present agreement under which workers and steel companies have promised to "assure production of military requirements essential to our forces combatting Communist aggression" is not enough. He said it does not meet needs for steel to build atomic weapons plants and other defense facilities.

Taft said some of Truman's arguments sounded "childish."

On the other hand, Sen. Monroney (D-Okla.) called the use-Taft-Hartley amendment "a sly tactic."

Auto Upholstery Ruined By Fire

Fire believed started by a discarded cigarette damaged upholstery Tuesday in a car parked at the Lee Shamer farm, four miles south of Circleville on Route 23.

Workers in a nearby hayfield noticed smoke pouring from the interior of the sedan and called firemen. Circleville fire department's township truck extinguished the blaze.

Damage, estimated at $100, was confined to the car's upholstery. The auto was owned by George Peters, Circleville Route 1.

Columbusite Injured In Crash Here

A Columbus motorist suffered minor injuries at about 11:50 p. m. Tuesday in an unusual accident on Kingston Pike near Hayesville.

He was Edward Green, 34, of Columbus, who had been driving north when he lost a ladder which had been fastened to the top of his car.

Green told Deputy John White he had turned around and headed back for the ladder, pulling toward the left side of the road to stop and load it aboard.

After stopping, Green and a companion left the auto and started to put the ladder back on top. Then an auto operated north by Ethel Crosby, 45, of 434 East Union street, crashed into the left side of the Green car, struck Green and hit a telephone pole.

White said Mrs. Crosby told him she thought the other car had been moving and was unaware it was stopped until she was upon it.

Green was thrown to the pavement. He suffered cuts and bruises of his left leg from the hip to the foot.

Senate Votes 'Request' To White House

less than they think they are entitled to.

AS HE OUTLINED it, however, his plan would permit the government, while operating the mills, to raise wages and change working conditions.

Within hours the Senate bowed over three plant seizure proposals, two of which had tacit White House blessing, and spiked into the controls bill the request to use the Taft-Hartley law.

In his speech to Congress Truman repeated his argument that a strike already had been averted for longer than the 80 days a Taft-Hartley law injunction would have deferred it.

He also claimed the act's provisions for fact-finding already have been met in the disputed recommendations of the Wage Stabilization Board.

"In the steel case," he said, "the union already has voluntarily postponed strike action for 99 days."

Truman said the present agreement under which workers and steel companies have promised to "assure production of military requirements essential to our forces combatting Communist aggression" is not enough. He said it does not meet needs for steel to build atomic weapons plants and other defense facilities.

Taft said some of Truman's arguments sounded "childish."
On the other hand, Sen. Monroney (D-Okla.) called the use-Taft-Hartley amendment "a slyster tactic."

Novelist Dies

NEW YORK, June 11.—Mrs. Katharine Brush, 49, novelist and short story writer, died here Tuesday after an illness of several months. Her best known books were "Young Man of Manhattan," published in 1930, and "Red-Headed Woman," 1931.

Auto Upholstery Ruined By Fire

Fire believed started by a discarded cigar damaged upholstery Tuesday in a car parked at the Lee Shamer farm, four miles south of Circleville on Route 23.

Workers in a nearby hayfield noticed smoke pouring from the interior of the sedan and called firemen. Circleville fire department's township truck extinguished the blaze.

Damage, estimated at $100, was confined to the car's upholstery. The auto was owned by George Peters, Circleville Route 1.

DEATHS and Funerals

MRS. ODD TISDALE
Mrs. Augusta Wiggins Tisdale, 45, of Laurelville, died at 9:30 a. m. Wednesday in her home following an illness of two years.

Mrs. Tisdale was born March 14, 1907, in Laurelville, daughter of Burt and Edna Sutz Wiggins, both of whom survive.

Other survivors are her husband, Odd Tisdale; two sons, Archie Tisdale of Circleville and Ansel Tisdale of Laurelville; six sisters, Mrs. Dessie Knox of Columbiana, Mrs. Gladys Woodgeard of Dayton, Mrs. Chole Wiggins of South Bloomingville, Mrs. Vivian Thompson of Laurelville and Mrs. Faye Tisdale of Chillicothe and Mrs. Magdalene Tisdale of Laurelville; three brothers, Umberto Wiggins of Amanda and Gerald Wiggins and Carl Wiggins, both of Circleville; and one grandchild.

Funeral arrangements are to be completed by L. E. Hill Funeral Home, Kingslon.

CORNELIUS F. SMYTH

Cornelius Francis Smyth, 87, of 219 West Mill street, died at 1:20 p. m. Tuesday in Berger hospital. Mr. Smyth was retired from service with the Railway Express.

Mr. Smyth was born Jan. 29, 1865, in Fayette County, son of Cornelius and Hannah Trayner Smyth. His wife, Elizabeth Rigney Smyth, died in 1936.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Don Eitel of Circleville and Mrs. John Laughlin of Columbus; a brother, Thomas Smyth, of Cincinnati; four grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Funeral services will be held at 9:30 a. m. Thursday in St. Joseph's Catholic church with Msgr. George O. Mason officiating. Burial will be in St. Joseph's Catholic cemetery.

Friends may call in Defenbaugh Funeral Home. Recitation of the rosary will take place in the funeral home at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday.

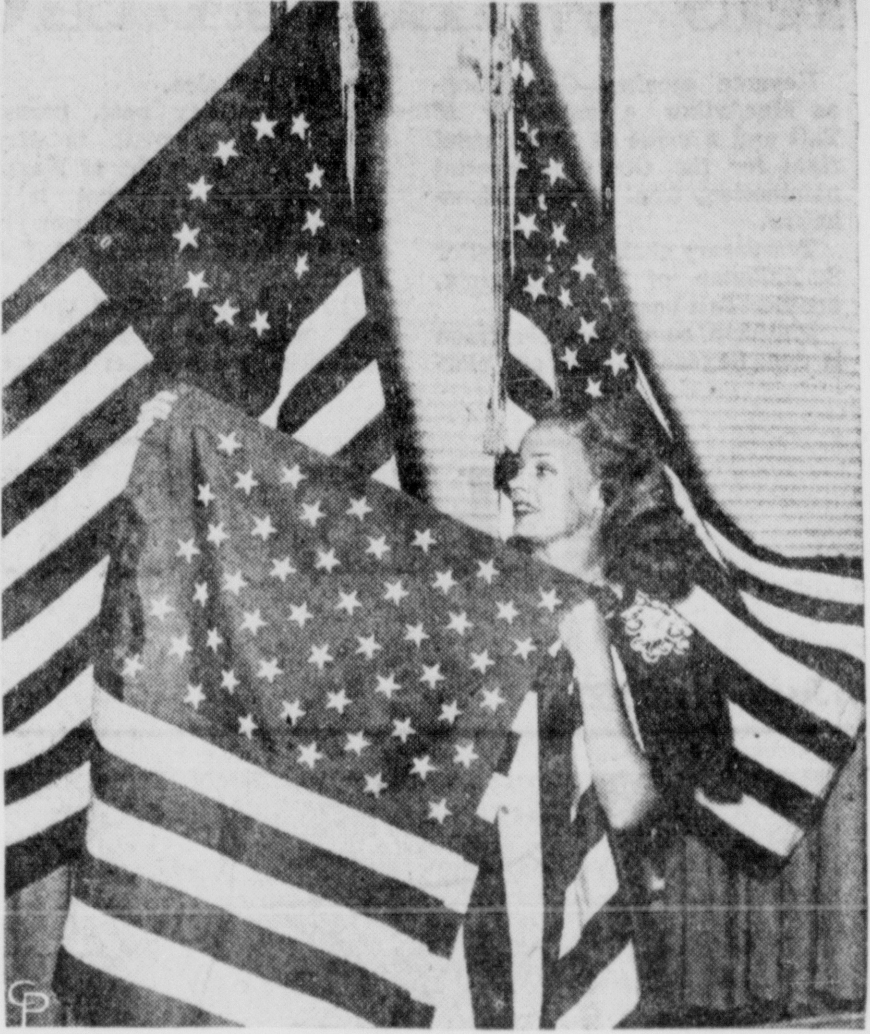

Woman 'Adopts' 50 Youngsters

DAYTON, O.—"Aunt Mary" Svelling has "adopted" 50 little children in a small Yugoslavian town named Filipovo. And the high school year in North Dayton is never officially ended until she throws her annual dinner for the athletes.

Mrs. Mary Svelling simply gets a bang out of helping people — orphans, prisoners of war, displaced persons. She has sent more than 700 packages overseas containing such items as food, clothing, toys and medicine. She operates a lunch room near a North Dayton high school.

Commissioner Cautions On Swimming

Dr. A. D. Blackburn, Pickaway county health commissioner, had a word of caution Wednesday for those who try to beat hot weather with a cooling swim.

The commissioner warned contamination has made Scioto River unfit for swimming and many favored "swimming holes" are also dangerous because of their isolated locations.

"Children, of course, are the most enthusiastic swimmers," Blackburn said, "but I know of very few places where they, along with adults, aren't in danger either because of contamination or the lack of supervision and life-guarding arrangements."
"No part of the river is fit for wading," the doctor said, "much less swimming. Sewage has caused a high degree of contamination."
"THERE MAY be suitable places along some of the county's other creeks and streams, but such spots are usually unguarded. And every summer there are far too many needless deaths by drowning."

Local Sailor Goes To Korea

Richard Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Anderson of North Scioto street, has notified his parents he is enroute to Korea aboard the USS John R. Craig.

Anderson returned here last October from Korea, after participating in two combat battles. He expects to return to the states in December.

Paul (Buck) Ankrom of Circleville is also serving aboard the Craig.

Columbusite Injured In Crash Here

A Columbus motorist suffered minor injuries at about 11:50 p. m. Tuesday in an unusual accident on Kingston Pike near Hayesville.

He was Edward Green, 34, of Columbus, who had been driving north when he lost a ladder which had been fastened to the top of his car.

Green told Deputy John White he had turned around and headed back for the ladder, pulling toward the left side of the road to stop and load it aboard.

After stopping, Green and a companion left the auto and started to put the ladder back on top. Then an auto operated north by Ethel Crosby, 45, of 434 East Union street, crashed into the left side of the Green car, struck Green and hit a telephone pole.

White said Mrs. Crosby told him she thought the other car had been moving and was unaware it was stopped until she was upon it.

Green was thrown to the pavement. He suffered cuts and bruises of his left leg from the hip to the foot.

Hardin College

At the recent Freedom Forum held on the Harding College campus we tried out a new illustration to get across the facts about the damage being done to the average man's income by inflation. It was a display of two piles of groceries, one bought with 1939 dollars and the other with 1952 dollars. The 135 people from 24 states who attended the Forum were amazed at what they saw.

To get the groceries, for the display we sent two people to the food market. One took the equivalent of $3.50 in 1939 dollars, based on the Consumers Food Index as published by the U. S. Department of Labor. The other took $3.50 in today's dollars.

To display the astonishing results, we placed the two piles of groceries on a table. With the small pile was a card reading "1939—1952" and with the larger pile a card reading "1939—1952." Here's what each pile contained:

1939—1952
1 loaf bread
1 can peas
1 lb. coffee
3 oranges
1/2 lb. butter
1 1/2 lbs. ham
(none)

1952—1939
2 loaves bread
2 can peas
2 lbs. coffee
6 oranges
1 lb. butter
4 1/2 lbs. ham
6 Coca Colas

Inflation slowed down and leveled off in recent months, but now it is on the move again, and everybody's living standard is affected. What causes inflation? It is caused by the existence of an over-supply of money, or an under-supply of goods, or both. If there are only two loaves of bread each day on Grocer Brown's shelf and four of his customers want bread every day, and all of them have a pocketbook full of money, those two loaves of bread are going to be bid up higher than their normal selling price.

THAT MEANS that the purchasing power of the dollars in the customer's pocketbook shrinks when he is buying bread from Grocer Brown.

If everything is in short supply at Brown's grocery store, and there still is an abundance of dollars floating around, the whole scale of food prices rises and the purchasing power of the dollar thus shrinks. What you earn then won't buy as much as it normally would. When we expand this example to the nation as a whole the same causes and effects are applicable. As we call it inflation.

Our federal government's spending of borrowed money over the past 15 years has put into circulation billions upon billions of dollars in return for which there has been practically no additional goods and services available. In fact, the government has been borrowing money on scraps of paper—IOUs.

Every dollar it thus puts in circulation takes a nip out of the value of every normal dollar earned by the wage and salary workers of the country.

The Socialists and other brands of economic planners very effectively cite the terrible losses suffered by the big and little bank depositors during the depression of the early '30s. But inflation in recent years has made the depression losses seem like nothing. The total loss, because of inflation, to bank savings accounts, insurance policies and E. F. and G. government savings bonds was $116,565,524,000 for the years 1941-1950, and this is 61 times the estimated loss to depositors in suspended banks during 1921-33, including the worst depression years!

Inflation is fed not only by government borrowing and spending but by any action putting more dollars into circulation without more goods being produced. It could be helped along, in the long run, by industry putting extra money into the pay envelopes of its workers without additional production, or by banks giving overboard in making loans on notes.

History shows us that in nation after nation, despotic men have used inflation and its final destructive results as a means of gaining control over the lives of the people. In America inflation is a dangerous business. For inflation can be turned on or off through the manipulations and practices of a small group of individuals within our Federal government.

Ancient Whale's Bones Uncovered

LOS ANGELES, June 11—(AP)—A whale that swam the seas 20 million years ago brought work to an abrupt halt at an excavation site in the nearby Palos Verdes hills. When workmen pick-axed into the monster's fossilized bones Tuesday they sent for Dr. Hildegarde Howard, chief curator of science at the Los Angeles County Museum. She identified the bones as belonging to a prehistoric whale—probably 25 to 40 feet long.

Just how important are ages and the difference of a year or two between a girl and a boy who like each other and have fun together?

"I have a problem that is bothering me very much," writes a prep school student. "I am seeing a lot of a very intelligent and well brought-up girl and I like her very much. We have very much in common and have a feeling toward each other that will be very hard to break.

"There is one thing, though, that I cannot get out of my mind. The girl is two years older than I. She is 18 and I am 16. Do you think that it is right for me to like that girl as I do? If she did not think the same of me as I do of her, I would not ask this question.

"Are there many married couples where the wife is older than the husband?"

Answer—Small differences in ages seem more important right now—in the 'teens—than at any other time in our lives. In the 'teens, each year is a milestone, because it makes such a difference in privileges, etc., and in school.

But after the 'teens, each year is no longer significant and differences in ages seem to dwindle, gradually disappearing. It's not unusual for a wife to be a year or two older than her husband; they never think of it and other people are unaware of it, because other things are so much more important—similar interests, getting along happily together, genuine respect, affection and love.

Senators Prefer Patronage Plan

WASHINGTON, June 11—(AP)—The Senate Government Operations Committee Tuesday voted 8-2 against President Truman's plan to change the way postmasters are selected.

The Truman plan calls for putting all the postmasters under strict civil service provisions, thus ending the old political patronage system which the Senate controlled.

Truman's reorganization proposal will automatically go into effect unless a majority of the Senate—49—or of the House—218—vote against it by June 20.

STATE OF TRADE

ONE OF THE international programs which is proving difficult to sell to Americans is the "buy foreign goods" program. This is designed to bolster the economy of the free nations and, incidentally, to open markets in those lands to American goods. Britain today is in a precarious condition due to shrinkage of exports. Unless this country buys some of the goods Russia will, goes one argument.

But when American producers see competitive goods flooding the country they begin to demand that the government apply the provision to raise taxes on imports when a domestic industry is affected. Many of the unions, too, side with industry on that issue. They see in consumption of American goods more employment for American workers.

In three years prior to 1951 the Tariff Commission received only 20 applications for higher duties. There were 15 last year and four in April, 1952.

U.S. exports, in the private enterprise form, have all but disappeared. Other countries are buying products in this country that are not obtainable elsewhere, but in nearly every instance payment is made out of gifts or loans from Washington.

There can be no argument that foreign trade is in a deplorable state. But many industrialists and others maintain that opening the U.S. to floods of foreign imports is a poor solution for the problem.

BRITONS PULLING OUT

FOR MORE THAN a century the ports of China have flaunted the names of British companies conducting trade which at its peak amounted to $132 million annually. Britain took China's raw materials and supplied that land with finished products. The British port of Hong Kong was the clearing house.

In an effort to save this business, London recognized the Red Chinese government. The British were accused of shipping war materials to Red China after the Chinese had entered the Korean war against British and American soldiers.

British self-abasement has come to naught. After prolonged harassment, which drove American firms out long ago, the British at last have been forced to close shop. Trade has slumped to a trickle.

London's recognition of Red China will remain in effect. The British hope to salvage something from the $700 million investment in China and to save Hong Kong.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

news behind the news

WASHINGTON, June 11—Dean Acheson was only technically correct when he assured worried Congressional inquirers that he had given no secret or unrecorded pledges to Britain, France and Germany in connection with the recent pacts making the former enemy nation a member of the European defense community.

The fact is that he entered into commitments at Bonn which virtually scrap the "four freedoms" promises incorporated in the Atlantic Charter by Roosevelt and Churchill. The Truman administration has finally beaten a retreat from the distant democratic frontiers staked out by those two international surveyors.

It is not too much to say that, as a result of this unpunished action, the United States has made a major revision of foreign policy. Acheson's failure to explain its significance on Capitol Hill is puzzling, for it would undoubtedly command the support of a majority of the legislators in both House and Senate.

LESSONS — Based on bitter lessons learned when Washington effected the immediate establishment of Israel and Indonesia as free states, this country will no longer browbeat its strongest European allies into dismembering and weakening their overseas empires for ideological reasons.

We will not continue to insist that independence be granted to colonies and protectorates when the mere desire for freedom is not buttressed by the basic qualifications for self-government — political, economic, cultural, etc.

UNREST — Roosevelt-Truman intervention on behalf of Indonesian independence forced the Netherlands to cast off those islands when they were not prepared for it. It helped to light the fires of communistic rebellion in the Far East, especially in China.

Truman's pressure on behalf of Israel has created similar unrest in the Middle East. Far from making friends in those strategic areas, our well-meant action has made them susceptible to Russian infiltration and conquest.

The Chinese and Arabs, once our historic friends, now doubt and distrust us. Even our generous treatment of The Philippines and Japan seems to be backfiring.

DISCOVERY — What Acheson has done is to abandon or modify the crusading, "make the world safe for democracy" spirit which, despite its noble and high-principled purpose has not worked out well in practice.

Washington has now made the belated but realistic discovery that politicians cannot play the role of a globe-encircling deity. It has begun to substitute fact for fancy in foreign policy.

Our secretary of state, for instance, informed Paris that the United States would support the French stand against Tunisia's

These Days

The housewives in Marshall, Texas, followed Vivien Kellems and rejected the Treasury's insistence that they become involuntary, unpaid bookkeepers for it. A tax collector should, of course, be paid for his work, and every month, when my wife, who does such chores around here, has to devote hours without compensation, doing the work of the Internal Revenue Bureau, she wants to know why nobody pays her for it. The Government should, perhaps with a mink coat, now and then.

So, I receive a note from a man who must know, who tells me that a public utility company is required to keep two sets of books. He makes the point that when President Truman assaulted the Kansas City Power and Light Company for keeping two sets of books, he, Harry Truman, did not know what he was talking about. Likely as that is, I had never heard of that particular assault, the President making so many these days, it is impossible to keep up with all of them.

But to get back to bookkeeping, a public utility company is required to keep a set of books, according to the principles of accountancy laid down by Federal or State regulations, whichever regulates it. These regulations are usually spelled out in great detail and there is little chance to get around them. It also makes bookkeeping costs very expensive.

The same public utility company must keep another set of books fulfilling the requirement of the Internal Revenue Bureau for Federal income tax purposes. Here the accountancy philosophy is different and the instructions are detailed and the entire business is costly.

My correspondent suggests that if it were not so costly, a third set of books might be kept to show the stockholders what is actually happening to their investment. Perhaps if they knew that, they might get mad enough to do something about it.

I do not know anything about accountancy, except that my accountant's figures never agree with mine and he always makes me pay more taxes than I think I ought to. He must be a friend of the Internal Revenue Bureau because I have never received a refund. That must be to prove that the accountant is right and deserving of a fee. I would like to get a refund once, just to prove that it can be done.

For the small business man, the whole thing is a costly nuisance. I met a nurseryman on the road recently who told me that in the busy season he has to get up at 4:30 a. m. seven days a week and work into the night until there are no customers. His season is, naturally, of very short duration, mostly in the spring when the green-thumbers come for plants.

It is pretty tough to figure profits in that kind of business, because so many of the bushes and trees are sold under peculiar circumstances and it is hard to calculate exactly what is the gain between planting a seedling and selling a four-foot bush. Yet, it all has to be figured out and many man-hours are spent at guessing.

Consult Doctor On Skin Moles

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

WHEN dealing with any form of skin growth or tumor, it is important never to have it treated by untrained and unskilled hands. Any skin growth should be carefully diagnosed by a physician before treatment is undertaken.

One type of skin disorder that may give rise to cancer of a highly malignant type is a dark mole. Some doctors believe that every dark (pigmented) skin tumor or mole can give rise to a potential cancer.

Not All Moles Dangerous This does not necessarily mean that all moles will eventually produce cancer, or are dangerous. Most of the skin spots, known as moles, that are present at birth, or appear after birth, never undergo any cancerous change.

Most moles are sharply separated from the adjoining skin, and have a definite round or oval outline. They are usually elevated from the skin, and are either the same color as the skin or a deep brown. They may also have hair growing from them. This type of mole can be removed with safety.

On the other hand, we sometimes see moles present at birth, soon after birth, or at any time of life, which are flat, with hardly any elevation from the skin level, irregular in outline rather than round or oval, and brown-black to coal-blue. This type of mole may give rise to later trouble, and should probably be removed.

Those moles that must be removed because they might change to cancer should have wide surgical removal—that is, some of the surrounding tissues should also be cut away. This will prevent malignant changes.

Non-Cancerous Type

Moles of the non-cancerous type, which are undesirable for their appearance, can be removed very easily by means of an electric needle.

Everyone should remember that it is highly important not to have any moles removed except under a physician's direction. Only a physician will know the best way to remove each particular form of skin growth.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

M. L.: I had part of my stomach removed because of ulcers about three years ago. Since that time, I have a pressure feeling right after I eat, beneath my ribs; this feeling becomes relieved after a half-hour or so. What is the cause of this?

Answer: You are probably suffering from what is known as a "dumping" syndrome. This is a frequent complication of stomach surgery. Usually, the use of a mild anti-spasmodic drug, with smaller meals, will help relieve these symptoms.

The BOOK of the CRIME

by ELIZABETH DALY

SYNOPSIS Dark, depressive moods have recently engulfed Gray Austen, and Rena, his bride of less than a year, is greatly worried. Is he brooding over his lame leg, gained along with glory in the war? Is he yet grieving for his first wife, long dead and gone? Rena ponders her problem as she walks her dog along a New York street. She is startled when young Mr. Ordway, their neighbor, steps out of the shadows to greet her. That night at home, Gray Austen flies into a fury when he discovers his wife holding a slim little paper-bound book in her hand. She had taken it from the shelf at random, it was not even the title. It was just some story about an ancient crime, but it caused a final rift between them. Terrified, Rena leaves the house. Ordway, their neighbor, who happens to be out in the street as she runs along it, is in reaching Henry Gamadge, noted bibliophile detective. Listening to her story, Gamadge decides to hide her in his home. Frantically Gray Austen endeavors to locate his missing bride. Wary of the police, he too contacts Gamadge.

CHAPTER FIVE

GAMADGE got home before noon, to find Clara once more setting forth. She said: "The group's letting out, and I'm off again, and I do wish Nanny would get back. This is killing me."

"Where's the baby's nurse?"

"Upstairs with him, naturally."

"Can you give me a few minutes in the library? I have something to talk over with you."

"I'll have to take a cab, then."

"They won't turn the child into the street. Just get hold of Miss Brown, will you?"

"We can't send her for Henry, she's been on her feet—"

The nursery-maid, however, was running lightly down the stairs from the top floor when Gamadge and Clara emerged from the elevator; Gamadge said: "A word with you, Miss Brown, which I think will interest you. I've just had the pleasure of a talk with your husband in the public library."

Clara exclaimed and seized hold of Rena's arm. Rena was gazing at her, unable to speak.

"It's all right," said Gamadge cheerfully. "He hasn't a notion."

"Hasn't a notion!" Clara was incredulous. "You mean it was a coincidence, or something? I don't believe it."

Rena said in a faltering voice: "He must have found out. And I was so sure Mr. Ordway . . ."

"He hasn't found out," said Gamadge. "and Ordway didn't tell. Come in and have some sherry."

Rena, on the chesterfield, drank sherry and listened to him; as he talked color came back into her face, she leaned against the cushions relaxed, her hands lay quiet.

"He wanted to make out that it was a chance encounter," said Gamadge. "said he saw my name on one of my library slips. But he was lying, he didn't see it; so I thought it was ethical to meet him on his own ground—he was asking for it. I did assure him, though, that I wouldn't be able to find you. Have some more sherry; I know it's a shock, it was for me too."

"But I don't understand . . ."

"Perfectly simple. He'd read my book, as you told me; the brother did know something of what I've done, you say he gets around," said Gamadge smugly. "And they couldn't simply ignore your exit, that's true enough. The servants would wonder. And Austen does want to find you, you know."

She nodded.

"But quietly, no publicity. Oh, so quietly; so he took a shot at me. But the clumsy fool thought it would be more effective to do it like this, in his own indirect way. So he must have hung around outside the house, and seen me leave, and driven down to the library after me."

"He has a car," said Rena. "He hardly ever drives it. Jerome does all the driving."

"Well, your husband drove this time, and I took so long to get through at the files that he had plenty of time to park and come in and catch me looking up titles in the catalogue room."

"But if he saw you leave—I left too!"

"Serenia," said Gamadge, who liked her old-fashioned name, "you know why we put you into that uniform. It's the best disguise on earth, with that veil around your face and your hair under it."

"And thank Heaven you're in it," said Clara, "for with Nanny off to go to that family funeral, all I could think of was resting my feet."

Rena almost sobbed: "At least I can think I'm earning my food."

"If Nanny weren't getting back on Sunday night we'd make you go on staying for us."

"I can't believe it yet. Coming here and telling you, and nobody saying I was crazy and ought to go back."

"Imagine your remembering me," said Rena, "as soon as I reminded you about Seaton's Aunt."

"Besides," Gamadge assured her, "it's a very interesting case. Right up my alley."

"I thought it was very strange there, but—"

"Oh, very interesting," repeated Gamadge. "Those books."

"Did you—"

"No, I didn't; I fumbled among murder cases all morning, and I never got within a mile of Mr. Austen and the pneumonia."

Summer, a waggish motion picture exhibitor has put up a sign on his marquee which reads, "Only ten degrees hotter inside."

The modern home, writes a noted architect, should be so arranged as to take care of one's hobbies. Right now we're in the market for a cozy little bungalow with built-in trout stream, golf course and picnic grounds.

In England a woman has complained to the authorities that the house she bought is so damp apple trees are sprouting from behind a

"Could it really be that?"

"That's all we have so far."

Clara said: "You'll get on with it, now you're so thick with him."

"Yes, I'm going up there to discuss it with the Austens at five o'clock this afternoon. I'm dying to go. He made himself very pathetic, Serena; said story, and if you hadn't got to me first I might have shed tears over it."

"Perhaps I ought to be shedding tears over it," said Rena.

"Because you were fooled into marrying a man you didn't know? But it's puzzling," admitted Gamadge, with a frown. "Very puzzling, the whole thing."

"Oh, why didn't I really look at those two books! Clara, don't go."

"I have to," groaned Clara, getting up.

"You can't go," said Gamadge, addressing Rena with some sternness. "This new development requires a lot of new strategy, and we'd better get down to some questions and answers. Question one: why did he marry you at all?"

The big chow came into the room, acknowledged company with a waft of his tail, and retired to his favorite corner out of the way. Rena followed him with her eyes; when she met Gamadge's again her face was clouded with perplexity.

"You don't know either," said Gamadge. "You've asked the question of yourself a hundred times. Why marry you in the first place, if you weren't the kind of person he could go on being civil to for more than a few weeks? You know, Serena, it wasn't a rash, precipitate kind of marriage, cooked up on the spur of the moment over cocktails in a bar. You didn't go into it hurriedly and slightly. A month—that's not such a short time; Clara and I knew our own minds in less than a month, I can tell you."

"I meant it to be forever."

"Yes, and you didn't change. You wouldn't—anybody could tell you wouldn't, just by looking at you. And you stuck it out until he turned dangerous, or went out of his mind. He got just what he thought he was getting. Made no complaint afterwards, you tell me; didn't lament that he was disappointed in you."

"No."

"In fact hung on to you, wouldn't hear of separation, and now wants you back. You didn't change, I say; but what happened to him?"

news behind the news

WASHINGTON, June 11—Dean Acheson was only technically correct when he assured worried Congressional inquirers that he had given no secret or unrecorded pledges to Britain, France and Germany in connection with the recent pact making the former enemy nation a member of the European defense community.

The fact is that he entered into commitments at Bonn which virtually scrap the "four freedoms" promises incorporated in the Atlantic Charter by Roosevelt and Churchill. The Truman Administration has finally beaten a retreat from the distant democratic frontiers staked out by those two international surveyors.

It is not too much to say that, as a result of this unpunctuated action, the United States has made a major revision of foreign policy, Acheson's failure to explain its significance on Capitol Hill is puzzling, for it would undoubtedly command the support of a majority of the legislators in both House and Senate.

LESSONS — Based on bitter lessons learned when Washington effected the immediate establishment of Israel and Indonesia as free states, this country will no longer browbeat its strongest European allies into dismembering and weakening their overseas empires for ideological reasons.

We will not continue to insist that independence be granted to colonies and protectorates when the mere desire for freedom is not bolstered by the basic qualifications for self-government — political, economic, cultural, etc.

UNREST — Roosevelt-Truman intervention on behalf of Indonesian independence forced the Netherlands to cast off those islands when they were not prepared for it. It helped to light the fires of communistic rebellion in the Far East, especially in China.

Truman's pressure on behalf of Israel has created similar unrest in the Middle East. Far from making friends in those strategic areas, our well-meant action has made them susceptible to Russian infiltration and conquest.

The Chinese and Arabs, once our historic friends, now doubt and distrust us. Even our generous treatment of The Philippines and Japan seems to be backfiring.

DISCOVERY — What Acheson has done is to abandon or modify the crusading, "make the world safe for democracy" spirit which, despite its noble and high-principled purpose has not worked out well in practice.

Washington has now made the belated but realistic discovery that politicians cannot play the role of a globe-encircling deity. It has begun to substitute fact for fancy in foreign policy.

Our secretary of state, for instance, informed Paris that the United States would support the French stand against Tunisia's insistence on more self-rule. With a population that is more than 80 per cent illiterate, and with no experience in government, Tunisia is obviously not ready to go it alone.

Moreover, we have air bases there that may be essential in the Mediterranean sector of a future global-war.

HANDS-OFF — Acheson likewise told the British that we would pursue a hands-off policy in England's dispute with Egypt over future control of the Sudan. Washington will also continue to pressure American oil companies into providing no markets for Iranian petroleum, hoping that this economic boycott will force a prompt settlement on London's terms. In short, we will back Britain globally.

French and British statesmen submitted an almost unanswerable argument in advocating a change in our gregarious championship of the Roosevelt-Churchill charter and Woodrow Wilson's theory of the "self-determination" of peoples.

They simply asked how Washington expected them, to support us in Korea and in the "cold war," while we demanded that they vest themselves of overseas outposts of democracy.

Even Acheson had to smile and surrender at that thrust!

GUARANTEES — The expansion of an American President's diplomatic powers resulting from our membership in the United Nations enabled Acheson to make his no-secret-pledges statement on Capitol Hill without subjecting himself to the charge of prevarication, deception or suppression.

By Ray Tucker

These guarantees on Tunisia and Egypt were not written into the pacts or codicils. Acheson simply assured Eden and Schuman that the United States would vote against consideration of the Africans' protests and complaints whenever they were presented to the international body.

He also agreed to line up the so-called American bloc in that organization on the side of London and Paris. In that way any serious discussion or examination of the colonial claims can be pigeonholed more or less permanently.

AUTHORITY — Not even the Bricker resolution, which has the backing of 56 other senators, can negate or prevent this kind of diplomatic operations. The Ohioan's proposed constitutional amendment simply provides that U.N. agreements and other treaties shall not override existing federal or state laws.

As this incident shows, American influence in the U.N. gives the president authority to make world-wide commitments without seeking prior authorization from Congress. New realization of this fact lies behind the demand to define and limit that body's power as it affects domestic and foreign affairs.

Cook-Marshall Vows Exchanged In Ashville

Before an altar banked with baskets of white chrysanthemums and ferns and lighted with soft glowing white tapers in seven-branched candelabra, Miss Barbara Lou Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roland R. Cook of Ashville Route 1, and Gene T. Marshall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Marshall of Ashville Route 2, exchanged wedding vows, at 3:30 o'clock June 1 in the Ashville Evangelical United Brethren church.

The Rev. J. D. Hopper read the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of heavy bridal satin, designed with a sheer yoke, a satin twist was inserted near the top of the fitted bodice and tiny covered buttons extended beyond the waistline in the back. The long snug sleeves, which tapered to points over the hands, were also fastened with covered buttons. The full skirt, worn over hoops, terminated in a wide circular train. Her fingertip veil of imported pearlized orange blossoms and she carried a cascade arrangement of white carnations, centered with a white orchid and tied with white knotted streamers. Her only jewelry was a double strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom.

Mrs. Clarence Marshall, sister of the bride, was matron-of-honor. Mrs. Leslie Cook and Mrs. Lloyd Cook, both sisters-in-law of the bride, served as bridesmaids. All wore identically styled gowns made with a wide low-cut collar edged with rows of ruffles, a fitted bodice and a full skirt over hoops. Their gowns were lavender, Nile green and yellow and they wore matching gauntlets and crowns of carnations. They carried colorful bouquets and each wore a pearl necklace and earrings, gifts from the bride.

Little Miss Teena Brenton, niece of the bridegroom, served as flower girl and her gown of deep rose, was styled like those of the attendants. She wore matching necklace and bracelet, gifts from the bride, and carried a miniature basket of mixed flowers.

Terry Marshall, nephew of both the bride and bridegroom, was the ring bearer.

Clarence Marshall served his brother as best man and ushers were Maynard Marshall of Circleville, brother of the bridegroom, and Lloyd Cook of Ashville, brother of the bride.

Miss Sarah Jane Hedges was the organist and Richard P. Cook, cousin of the bride, sang, "Aloft," "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church dining room for 75 guests. A traditional three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom centered the bride's table. Bouquets of summer flowers and lighted white tapers decorated the table and white wedding bells and streamers in pastel shades were suspended above the table.

The bride's mother greeted the guests in a navy blue crepe dress with navy and white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations. The bridegroom's mother also wore a navy blue dress, with which she wore beige accessories and a corsage of yellow carnations.

Hostesses for the reception were Mrs. George Sipe Jr. of Troy, sister of the bridegroom and Mrs. Maynard Marshall of Circleville. Junior hostesses were Miss Patsy Cook and Miss Carol Cook, sisters of the bride.

When the couple left for their wedding trip to Niagara Falls, Canada and New Jersey, the new Mrs. Marshall was wearing a navy blue suit dress with navy and white accessories and the white orchid from her bridal bouquet.

The bride was graduated from Walnut Township high school in 1950 and is employed by an automobile insurance company in Columbus. Mr. Marshall was graduated from Walnut Township high school and is employed as a foreman at the American Zinc Oxide plant in Columbus.

The couple will make their home at 1259 South High street, in Columbus.

Cook-Marshall Vows Exchanged In Ashville

Before an altar banked with baskets of white chrysanthemums and ferns and lighted with soft glowing white tapers in seven-branched candelabra, Miss Barbara Lou Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roland R. Cook of Ashville Route 1, and Gene T. Marshall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Marshall of Ashville Route 2, exchanged wedding vows, at 3:30 o'clock June 1 in the Ashville Evangelical United Brethren church.

The Rev. J. D. Hopper read the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of heavy bridal satin, designed with a sheer yoke, a satin twist was inserted near the top of the fitted bodice and tiny covered buttons extended beyond the waistline in the back. The long snug sleeves, which tapered to points over the hands, were also fastened with covered buttons. The full skirt, worn over hoops, terminated in a wide circular train. Her fingertip veil of imported illusion fell from a crown of pearlized orange blossoms and she carried a cascade arrangement of white carnations, centered with a white orchid and tied with white knotted streamers. Her only jewelry was a double strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom.

Mrs. Clarence Marshall, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Mrs. Leslie Cook and Mrs. Lloyd Cook, both sisters-in-law of the bride, served as bridesmaids. All wore identically styled gowns made with a wide low-cut collar edged with rows of ruffles, a fitted bodice and a full skirt over hoops. Their gowns were lavender, Nile green and yellow and they wore matching gauntlets and crowns of carnations. They carried pearl bouquets and each wore a pearl necklace and earrings, gifts from the bride.

Little Miss Teena Brenton, niece of the bride, served as flower girl and her gown of deep rose, was styled like those of the attendants. She wore matching necklace and bracelet, gifts from the bride, and carried a miniature basket of mixed flowers.

Terry Marshall, nephew of both the bride and bridegroom, was the ring bearer.

Clarence Marshall served his brother as best man and ushers were Maynard Marshall of Circleville, brother of the bridegroom, and Lloyd Cook of Ashville, brother of the bride.

Miss Sarah Jane Hedges was the organist and Richard P. Cook, cousin of the bride, sang, "Aloft," "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church dining room for 75 guests. A traditional three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom centered the bride's table. Bouquets of Summer flowers and lighted white tapers decorated the table and white wedding bells and streamers in pastel shades were suspended above the table.

The bride's mother also wore a navy blue dress with navy and white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations. The bridegroom's mother also wore a navy blue dress, with which she wore beige accessories and a corsage of yellow carnations.

Hostesses for the reception were Mrs. George Sipe Jr. of Troy, sister of the bridegroom and Mrs. Maynard Marshall of Circleville. Junior bridesmaids were Miss Patsy Cook and Miss Carol Cook, sisters of the bride.

Women Told Put No Faith In A Corset

Dress Designer Out To Wage War Against Makers Of Gadgets

NEW YORK, June 11—Charles James, the dress designer, has decided to take on the American corset industry as his next opponent.

Known for his fiery battles with manufacturers and buyers, the unpredictable James now has declared what may be his most ambitious war.

He has forbidden his customers to wear girdles. Says he:

"Women cannot place their faith in a piece of elastic to mold them into the form of fashion. The usual girdle adds two inches to the waist."

James, whose custom models for the best-dressed list cost about $1,000 each, has teamed up with a local wholesale dress manufacturer, Samuel Winston, to do a collection which the public may purchase for $150 up.

THE STORMY petrel of New York's haute couture will continue his custom salon, but plans to design a group of dresses for the wholesale market each season. The wholesale models will be made on the same famous James "body" that has won the praise of his private clientele.

James has made a life study of the vagaries of the female form, and has arrived at the conclusion that, with the proper dress design, it looks better uncorseted. He explains:

"The usual woman who buys a size 16 dress is really only a size 12 who has put on weight. But when she gets fat she does not inflate evenly all over like a balloon."

"She grows larger in certain places. Her shoulders and her hips remain the same. So the average size 16 is too big for her in spots and perhaps too tight in others. It is a very sad sight."

"When she tries to gird herself with elastic and steel, she only makes things worse. She redistributes the weight in an unnatural way. A correctly designed dress can conceal it. That's what I plan to do."

Ex-Federal Aide Indicted In Graft

WASHINGTON, June 11—A federal grand jury Tuesday indicted Charles E. Shaver for accepting $3,100 in fees to push cases before government agencies while he was counsel for the Senate Small Business Subcommittee.

Shaver was charged, on 11 counts in three indictments, with violating a federal law which prohibits any government employee from accepting compensation to represent outside parties before government agencies in any matter in which the government is interested.

The United States is the oldest republic in the world that began with a president as its chief executive.

Community Chest Expansion Urged

COLUMBUS, June 11—The Ohio Community Chest Association has formally urged the nearly 100 Community Chests in Ohio include the United Defense Fund in their campaigns.

A formal resolution asked the state's community chests to accept their full shares in raising $1,398,535 for the UDF which is comprised of the USO, American Social Hygiene Association, American Relief for Korea, United Community Defense Services, National Recreation Association and United Seamen's Services.

Hired Hand's Day About 9 1/2 Hours

WASHINGTON, June 11—The hired man on the farm works about two hours less each day than his farmer boss.

The Agriculture Department said hired hands average 9 1/2 hours work a day. Farm employment continues to decline, the department said, reflecting loss of workers to the armed forces and to urban industries as well as a rise in the use of machinery and labor saving practices. The department said farm employment totals 10,863,000—a decrease of 150,000 from a year ago.

Children Superior To Adults Who Fret About War, Politics

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK — Children are superior to grownups because they have a greater sense of wonder.
Adults are always fretting about such dull topics as whether there will be another world war soon and who will be the next president.
Such prosaic cares never disturb the curly hair of my god-child, Nina. She is still a month away from her fifth birthday, and her world is such an exciting one I wish I could share it completely with her.
But I can't. No grownup can know the enchantment of a child's mind, because he loses the fresh joy of discovery. A child would like to know everything about everything, he is flooded all at once with all the knowledge of the universe. Grownups have no such desire. Time and boredom too often build a wall around their minds.
They lose the will to learn. This puzzles children. They can't understand why grownups aren't as eager for information as they are.
Nina looks like an exclamation point and she is a living question mark. Queries pour out of her from dawn to dusk, searching queries of a little girl trying to decipher the magic of life.
What does a young lady "going on five" want to know? Well, her mother scotch-taped a piece of paper on the kitchen wall and scribbled down the questions Nina asked. Here are a few:
"Why is it black when the fire goes out?"
"How do you get hungry?"
"Why does everybody in the whole world have to go to church on Sunday School?"
"Do you love us (Nina and her sister) even when we are bad?"
"Do snakes come in houses?"

Eccard, Sheets Hired As County School Heads

After S. Eccard of 128 Park street and V. Dayton Sheets of Crown City have been employed as elementary school principals in the Pickaway County school system.
Both men have been hired by the Harrison Township board of education to fill vacancies in South Bloomfield and Duvall schools.
However, the board has not definitely assigned the men to their particular schools yet.
The men were hired to replace Earl Hogan, former South Bloomfield principal now employed by Van Wert schools; and John Bott, former Duvall principal now in insurance.
ECCARD WAS graduated by Capital university in 1941 and was inducted into the armed forces, where he served five years. After discharge, he taught in Mitchell College, New London, Conn., then returned to Ohio to complete study for a master's degree, which he received last Friday from Ohio State university.
Sheets has had 17 years of elementary school teaching. He was trained in Rio Grande college and Ohio university.

Fat Wallet Reduced By High Speed

Cut your speed—and cut driving costs.
State Highway Patrolman Bob Greene said excessive speed not only endangers your life but also hurts your pocketbook.
Greene was discussing the traffic safety program of the state highway patrol and the National Safety Council. The two agencies this month are stressing "speed control" as their traffic safety theme.
"At the pocketbook level," Greene said, "driving costs go up every time you step on the accelerator."
He pointed out when speed is increased from 40 to 65 miles an hour, gasoline costs jump almost 30 per cent. Cost of oil consumed goes up almost four times when speed is increased from 40 to 65 miles an hour. At the same time, the cost of wear and tear on tires is two and one-half times as much at the higher speed.
"EXCESSIVE speed also is costly in terms of human life," Greene warned.
Figures compiled by the National Safety Council show excessive speed was a factor in one out of every three fatal accidents in the United States during 1950. Approximately 10,000 persons were killed as a result of these accidents.
Locally, excessive speed was a factor in 22 per cent of the traffic accidents during the last year.
"Speed kills... take it easy" is the traffic safety slogan being advanced during June by the Patrol and the National Safety Council.

Pvt. Spradlin To Be Trained

Pvt. William B. Spradlin, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Spradlin of Orient Route 1, has completed processing at the 2053d Reception Center in Ft. Meade, Md., and is assigned to the 5th Infantry Division in Indiantown Gap, Pa., for basic training.
He will receive 16 weeks of basic military training necessary for all soldiers. Fundamental military subjects such as close order drill, care of clothing and equipment, first aid, scouting and patrolling, and map reading will be taught.

Redevelopment Law Is Battled

COLUMBUS, June 11.—Several Ohio cities have attacked the legality of Ohio's urban redevelopment law in arguments before the supreme court.
The court took their arguments and contentions that the 1949 act is unconstitutional under advisement. The test of the act came in the case of Cincinnati's west end slum clearance project. Mayor Carl W. Rich and other city officials declined to sign notes that would have financed the venture.

Walnut Teacher Selected For Scholarship

Nelle M. Oesterle of Ashville, a member of the faculty of Walnut Township school, has been selected for a scholarship to attend the workshop on economic education to be held Sunday through July 3 on the campus of Ohio university.
Miss Oesterle, a graduate of Ohio State university, Columbus, will be one of about 75 Ohio secondary school teachers and administrators selected to participate in the workshop, the first of its kind in Ohio and sponsored by the university's college of education and department of economics with the cooperation of the Joint Council on Economic Education.
During the three weeks, a group of business, labor and agricultural leaders will work with university faculty members in striving to give selected teachers and administrators a better knowledge of economic trends and developments. Development of materials appropriate for secondary school classroom use also is part of the program.
Selection of the participants was made on the basis of interest, leadership, background of experience and education. The scholarships are financed by contributions from business, labor and agricultural groups and individuals.

Areas to be discussed during the three-week workshop will include economic resources, national economy today, problems of control, basic problems in our economy, international economic problems and problems of economic education in the schools.

10 Top Trotters Due In Big Test
WESTBURY, N. Y., June 11—(AP)—Kimberly Mine, outstanding two-year-old trotting filly of 1951, and nine other eligibles for the $90,000 Hambletonian Stake in August, will show their wares Wednesday night in split divisions of the Old Country Trot at Roosevelt Raceway.

Lonway took Tuesday night's Grand Circuit feature, the $10,766 Abbedale Trot. The winner was clocked in 2:09 2/5. Adios Ann was second and Terka Hanover third.

Old Satchemo Being Urged As All-Star

Ancient Brownie Helps Yanks Hit League Leadership

NEW YORK, June 11—(AP)—Tip to Casey Stengel, who will manage the American League's 1952 all-star team in the inter-league classic in Philadelphia next month:

Want to know how to snap the National's two-game winning streak? Nothing to it. Just select Leroy (Satchell) Paige as one of your eight pitchers.

Except for Philadelphia's Bobby Shantz and New York's Allie Reynolds, there hasn't been a more effective hurler in the league than Paige during the past four weeks.

For three innings, the maximum distance in an all-star game, the ancient Negro is as good a clutch pitcher as anybody in the game today.

Stengel owes Paige a debt of gratitude at that. But for the 44-year-old (says he) righthander's superb relief job Tuesday night Casey's New York Yankees might not be in first place today.

THE DEFENDING champion Yankees are in the top position for the first time this season. That came about when Eddie Lopat pitched them to a 4-0 four-hit victory over Detroit while the St. Louis Browns were turning back the Boston Red Sox, 7-4.

And who was the Brownie star? Old Satchemo Paige. Long and Lean Leroy came to the rescue of starter Ned Garver in the sixth inning after the Red Sox had clubbed the Brownie ace for two runs which left them trailing, 5-4. Paige found two men on base with only one out but got the side out without further scoring. The Red Sox did no more scoring.

The loss dropped the Red Sox into third place behind the Cleveland Indians who edged Washington, 4-3.

The Chicago White Sox moved past the Senators into fourth place with a 15-4 slugfest triumph over the Philadelphia Athletics.

The surprising Chicago Cubs picked up a full game on the National League leaders, thrashing the Philadelphia Phillies, 10-5, while the front-running Brooklyn Dodgers and second place New York Giants were losing.

Joe Presko pitched the St. Louis Cardinals to a 10-inning 1-0 triumph over the Dodgers' Chris Van Cuyk and the Cincinnati Reds outlasted the Giants, 6-5 in 14 furious innings. Pittsburgh's cellar-dwellers climbed within 25 games of the top with a 7-5 win over the Boston Braves.

Bumper Wheat Crop Expected
WASHINGTON, June 11—(AP)—A wheat crop of 1,326,157,000 bushels—the second largest on record—was forecast by the Agricultural Department Tuesday.

A harvest of this size would be 33,157,000 bushels more than indicated a month ago and would compare with the 10-year average of 1,084,664,000 and the record of 1,367,186,000 in 1947.

WASHINGTON, June 11.—At the Republican National Convention next month selection of the party candidate will be in the hands of 1,206 delegates. At least 604 votes, a majority, are needed to nominate.

As of now the Associated Press tabulation of the 1,193 already chosen shows Sen. Taft has 464 delegates. Eisenhower 390. Other candidates have 130. And 209 delegates are uncommitted or in dispute.

On this basis no man is close to the 604 votes that would give him the nomination on the first ballot at the convention which opens July 7 in Chicago. There'll be switching around on subsequent ballots if there's no nomination on the first one.

Of the greatest importance to the two men is the seating of blocs of delegates from Southern states where rival slates of Taft and Eisenhower people claim the exclusive legal right to be seated. Those Southern states are Texas, Louisiana, Georgia, and Mississippi with a total of 76.

CHOICE of the Republican candidate could revolve on the seating of one or the other of these delegations.

First step is a decision by the Republican National Committee which is composed of two representatives—a man and a woman—from each state and territory and the District of Columbia.

This national committee meets four or five days before the convention opens. It hears arguments by rival delegations claiming the right to be seated, decides which one can be seated, but only temporarily.

This dispute is still unsettled, of course, since the national committee simply made a decision to get the convention started.

When it opens, a credentials committee is chosen. Each delegation on the floor, including the disputed but temporary ones, is entitled to have one man on credentials.

Then the credentials committee hears the arguments of the rival delegations and recommends to the convention which ones should be seated. The convention can accept or reject the committee recommendations.

Can a disputed but temporarily seated delegation vote now on credentials committee recommendations involving itself or other disputed delegations? This seems to be uncertain ground here.

EISENHOWER, Taft and Republican National Committee headquarters here were asked but gave no unanimous answer.

In 1912 the temporary chairman of the Republican convention ruled that a disputed delegation could vote on seating or rejecting other temporarily seated but disputed delegations but could not vote on its own case.

The temporary chairman this

Business Good In New York

NEW YORK (AP)—Business was at a relatively high level throughout New York state in May, except for "depressed" industries such as apparel, shoes and small metal trades which continue to be soft.

A survey by the State Employment Service of 5,100 firms employing 250,000 workers indicates they foresee a 3 per cent increase in jobs by August. More than 700 of the business firms with defense contracts predict a 6 per cent expansion in employment.

The construction industry, also considered a soft area, may improve because of eased material curbs resulting from the defense stretch-out. Construction jobs rose in March for the first time in eight months to 94,800, or 4 per cent above totals of the previous month.

Public Has Only 'Passing Interest'

Pickaway County's Civil Defense Program Needs Complete Shakeup

Ben H. Gordon, Pickaway County civil defense director, warned Wednesday this county's defense organization needs a complete shakeup and that, in the event of another war, "the civilians are really going to take a beating."

Gordon repeated his wish to give up the duties of his position in view of the pressure of his business here and because he feels only a full overhaul can lift the district's civil defense setup out of its growing laxity.

He said many units of local government and community life have been well organized to handle their share of any emergency, but the general public has only a passing interest in the cause. Then too, he added, some units assigned key roles in the district's defense plan either failed to meet the call or allowed their ranks to dwindle over a period of time.

"There seems to be a feeling among the residents here," Gordon said, "that the Army will always step in and take over, if and when war comes suddenly. What they fail to consider is that the Army may not have time to take over the vast sphere assigned to civilian defense—even if it could form a sufficient force and enough equipment to care for the stricken regions."

GORDON POINTED out that even at the time of the county's last civil defense meeting, April 23, public interest lagged.

"The ground observer corps, the nurses group and a number of other units like the police and firemen were already well trained and willing, but when they noticed the public couldn't take the matter seriously a lot of other units decided they couldn't spare the extra time," Gordon said.

The county civil defense director is appointed by the mayor in agreement with the county commissioners.

Gordon said he notified Mayor Ed Amey shortly after the first of this year that he wanted to turn over his duties to somebody else, but agreed to continue until that could be done.

"I'm perfectly willing to do all I can," Gordon said, "but I feel I've already reached that limit and somebody else should take a turn at the job. I owe it to my own business to give it more of my time."

Gordon took the occasion to praise the work of T. E. Wilson, district civilian defense director during World War II.

The Circleville Herald publisher, Gordon recalled, "had a tremendous task and often got disgusted, but hung on and turned in a splendid job which was vital for the community and county."

GORDON SAID Pickaway County's normal role in the event of a major bombing attack on Columbus or one of the other nearby cities would be to handle part of the evacuation.

"At first glance it doesn't look like much of a job," he said, "but then you have to figure that even a few hundred emergency cases, many of them in urgent need of medical care, could totally disrupt life in Circleville and vicinity."

"Then too, in this modern age of atomic bombing, the county itself could very easily be directly affected by even slight miscalculations of enemy raiders."

Effect on the county in the event the local area has to absorb part of a large city's evacuation would be far greater and hold many more problems than those faced several years ago when Circleville helped care for victims of Portsmouth floods.

But it can't be done without a large scale reorganization of the county's defense setup. It can't come about without a real and sustained interest by the general public.

Gordon doesn't offer the comment as his own, but he recalled what Air Force spokesmen have said during training programs: "It may finally take a bomb to wake people up."

Printing Contract Being Questioned

LONDON, June 11—(AP)—Madison County authorities are seeking to learn if it was illegal to pay a state employee $690 to print the county's May 6 primary election ballots.

Prosecutor Forrest E. Sidener Jr. said he will ask Ohio Attorney General C. William O'Neill to clarify a ruling of Nov. 13, 1951, in which O'Neill held the state may not enter a contract with a state employee. Sidener said he wants to know whether Madison County was right in accepting the ballot-printing bid of Clarence J. Doyle's printing firm. Doyle resigned Monday as executive secretary to State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson.

Cleland Rescued After Sea Ditch

TOKYO, June 11—(AP)—Lt. Cmdr. Cook Cleland, winner of the 1951 National Air Races at Cleveland, was rescued Tuesday after ditching his crippled plane in choppy Wonsan Bay off Northeast Korea.

Cleland was one of four Navy pilots to ditch successfully there in the last two days, the Navy said. Cleland was making a strike on Wonsan from the carrier Valley Forge when Communist flak knifed through his gas tank. He was picked up by a helicopter.

Military Building Program Gets OK

WASHINGTON, June 11—(AP)—The House Armed Services Committee Tuesday unanimously approved a $2,758,318,000 authorization for military construction in the year beginning July 1.

The total is about $269 million less than President Truman asked Congress to appropriate. Biggest cut was $250 million in funds earmarked as the American share of European airfields to be used by NATO.

Printing Contract Being Questioned

LONDON, June 11—(P)—Madison County authorities are seeking to earn if it was illegal to pay a state employee $600 to print the county's May 6 primary election ballots.

Prosecutor Forrest E. Sidener Jr. said he will ask Ohio Attorney General C. William O'Neill to clarify a ruling of Nov. 13, 1951, in which O'Neill held the state may not enter a contract with a state employee. Sidener said he wants to know whether Madison County was right in accepting the ballot-printing bid of Clarence J. Doyle's printing firm. Doyle resigned Monday as executive secretary to State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson.

Cleland Rescued After Sea Ditch

TOKYO, June 11—(P)—Lt. Cmdr. Cook Cleland, winner of the 1951 National Air Races at Cleveland, was rescued Tuesday after ditching his crippled plane in choppy Wonsan Bay off Northeast Korea.

Cleland was one of four Navy pilots to ditch successfully there in the last two days, the Navy said. Cleland was making a strike on Wonsan from the carrier Valley Forge when Communist flak knocked through his gas tank. He was picked up by a helicopter.

Military Building Program Gets OK

WASHINGTON, June 11—(P)—The House Armed Services Committee Tuesday unanimously approved a $2,758,318,000 authorization for military construction in the year beginning July 1.

The total is about $269 million less than President Truman asked Congress to appropriate. Biggest cut was $250 million in funds earmarked as the American share of European airfields to be used by NATO.
